About me

I'm Vishal Hirani, a postgraduate student in Public Health & Social Care at UWTSD, London. I hold a BSc in Microbiology and have hands-on experience in reception, hospital admin, and social media management. I've worked at my family's resort as a receptionist and digital content handler, and also completed hospital training in India. I enjoy video editing and have built a simple POS app as a personal project. I'm now seeking part-time work in admin, healthcare support, customer service, or digital content.
